Busy, Busy, Busy

So far, the Air Victory Museum has had a very busy year. We started off the year by repositioning several of our aircraft. The F-86 Sabre, A-7 Corsair II, and the A-4 Skyhawk were moved. We also reconfigured about half of the museum's displays into a more organized and logical layout.

We had all hands on deck to help move the aircraft. All sorts of unconventional methods were used to get the job done. We used dollies, straps, winches, muscle, and a lot of crossed fingers.

After about two months of work, the museum's displays were finally put back together. This seemingly monumental task had been accomplished with the help of our volunteers.

I'd like to thank everyone involved for their commitment to the organization. The museum has truly benefitted from their hard work.

Thanks Fred

Fred Koch has stepped down from president of the board. Bob McGonigle has agreed to take on the responsibility of being the new president.

Fred has been the president of the board as well as the curator, office manager, cashier as well as many other job titles for the past 10 years.

In addition to serving as president of the board for the last 10 years, Fred has also acted as curator, office manager, cashier as well as many other roles.

Fred will continue to keep all of his other duties as previously noted. Thank you for your service to the museum, Fred!

Night On The Town

The P-80 Shooting Star was towed to the Lumberton Municipal complex on the 3rd of August. The museum took part in Lumberton's National Night Out community event.

This event provided great publicity for the museum. We also benefitted from a few dollars in donations.

T-34 Progress

The restoration of the T-34 Mentor is going well. The fuselage is masked off and ready to receive some paint. The color scheme will replicate the previously painted colors of red, white and blue.

There are still many months of work ahead before this aircraft will be ready for display.

Calling All Members

We continue to need and value your support. Come out to the museum and see what's new. I think you'll be impressed with the progress that we have made. Please renew your memberships in order to help the museum make ends meet.

I would like to remind you that the museum's official website is:
